The 2011-2012
UCF BM in Jazz Studies Student Assessment Report
Jeff Rupert, Director of Jazz Studies
August 8, 2012

This report includes summaries of jazz jury assessments. Data reflects the average score for students sorted by:

- Level (class)
- Instrument

The assessment rubric follows the data. The juries are used in part to assess implementation and progress of the curriculum. Interpretation of the data is below, and a response and conclusion are included on page nine.

- Page 1 Overview and interpretation of the data from jury assessments.
- Page 2 Jazz studies student enrollment and graduation figures.
- Page 3 Graph overview of jazz jury assessments for the entire student body.
- Page 4 Jury assessment data sorted by class (level).
- Page 5 Jury assessment data by winds and guitar
- Page 6 Jury assessment data of piano, bass and drums.
- Page 7 Response to the data.
- Page 8-10 Grading rubrics.

Interpretation of the data:

It appears that jazz studies students by enlarge are assimilating the curriculum very well. In most areas of assessment, students are scoring between 88.5- 89.5%, a very narrow, and consistent margin. Areas scoring just below 89% include note accuracy, articulation, and rhythmic improvisation. Harmonic improvisation is at 88.5%, and the lowest scoring section is scale studies, at just below 88%.

There appears to be parity among the studios, however since a few have only 1 or 2 students assessed, data sorted by studio is skewed in that the data relies solely on one or two students. The guitar and drum studios are well populated and the data is fairly consistent.

While the data reflects good and consistent scores for etude/other, the individual data reflects that not all studios are requiring or assessing this kind of work. Figures reveal that there is less equity in application of scale studies, as compared to other areas of assessment.

Undergraduate as compared to graduate assessments; while there are only one graduate student reporting for the fall, and two for the spring, it would appear that the graduate level preparation and assessment scores are considerably lower than the undergraduates.

Overview of the jazz studies student assessment for the 2011-12 year by %.

Notes: It would appear that our evaluations of “overall technical ability” do not match the rest of the assessment. Note lowest figures include scale studies, and harmonic improvisation.

Jazz Studies Assessment by class for the 2011-12 year.

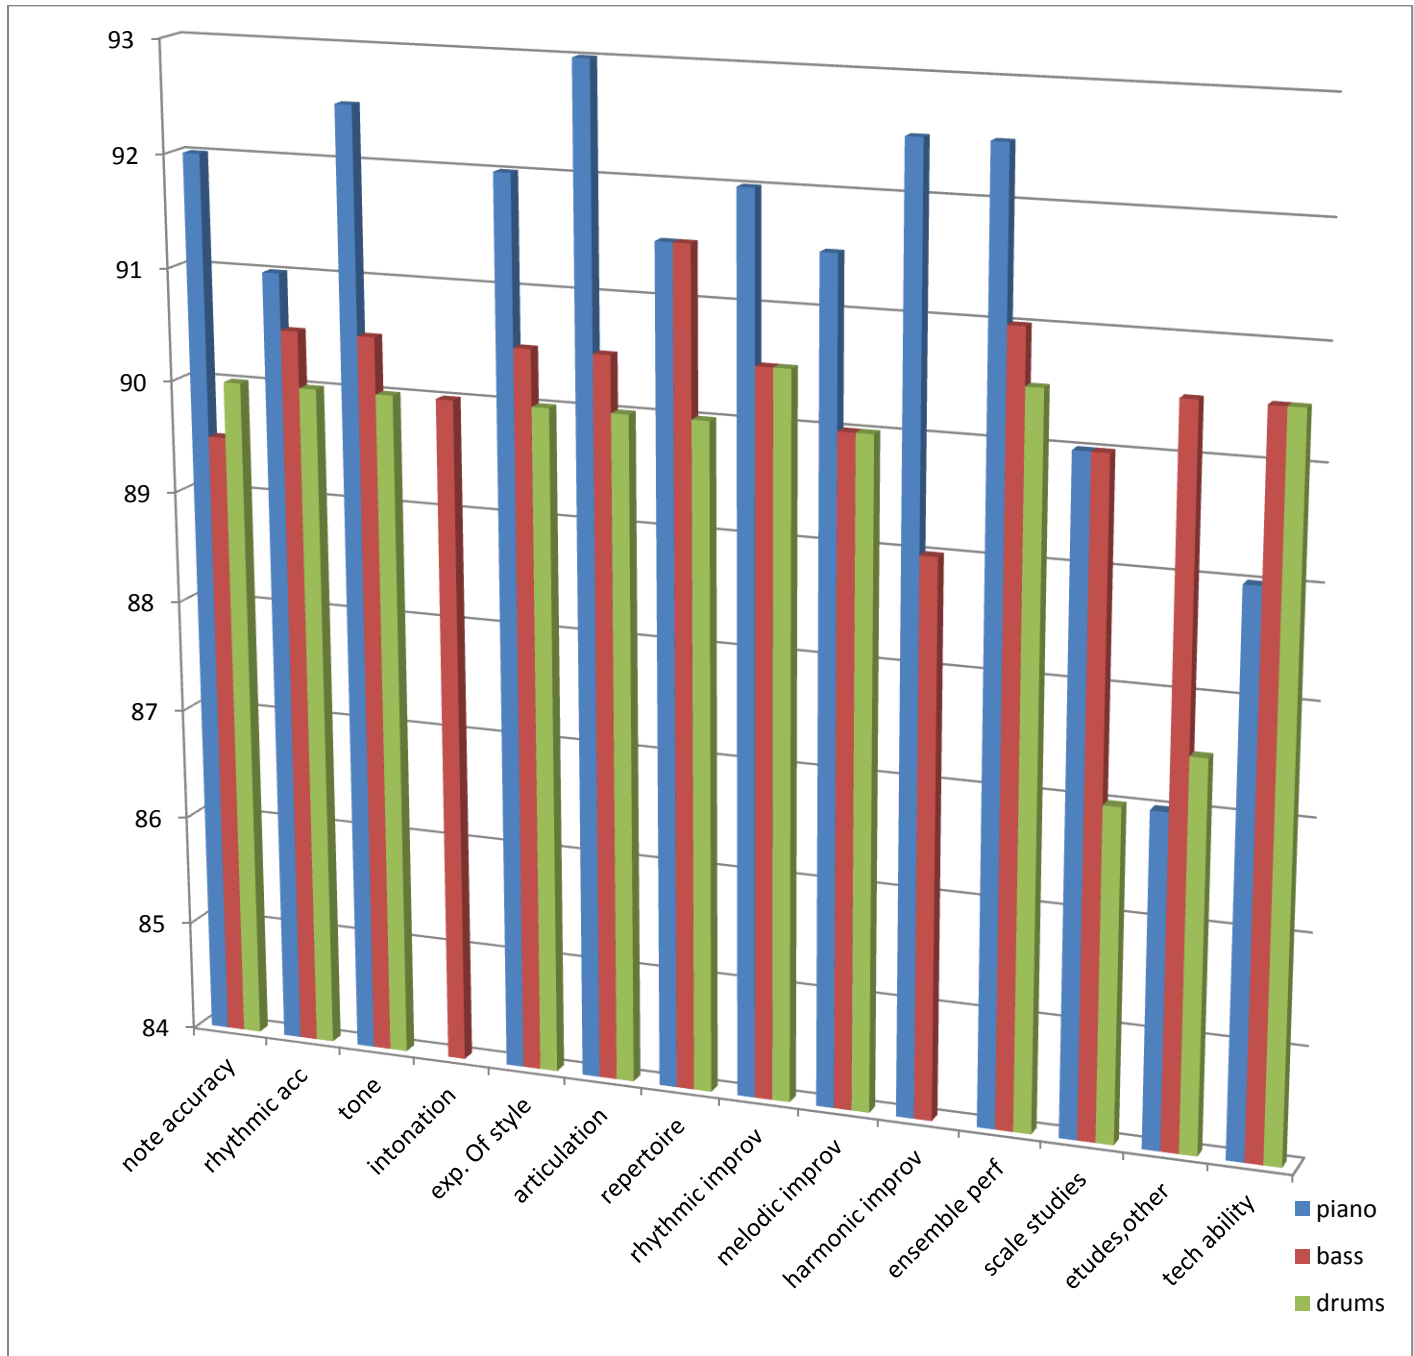

Overview of the 11-12 Data by Instrument (Winds & Guitar).

Studio numbers- 1 sax, 1 trombone, 6 guitarists.

Overview by instrument; Piano, Bass, and Drums. 3 pianists, 3 bassists, 5 drummers

Notes: Scale studies, and etudes/other have the greatest variance in scoring.

Response to the Data

The students are achieving good success with regard to their studies. In comparing previous years' assessments, applied study (excluding etude preparation, and scale studies) are high. Etude study, scale preparation, (including bebop scales from jazz theory) as well as repertoire assimilation are not as consistent as in other areas. Harmonic improvisation scores vary, however it is assumed that bolstering scale and repertoire studies will help in this area. It is realistic to continue our assessments, and try and raise the overall level of assimilation by UCF jazz studies students, as well.

Recommendations:

- A collection of the core repertoire has been created, for the faculty. It is encouraged that students begin assimilating these compositions in three keys. See collection forward for complete details.
- Applied instructors focus on the compositions for the freshman and sophomore classes. These students have less interaction with jazz course work as compared to upperclassmen, and attention in this way creates a more inclusive environment for the underclassmen.
- Perhaps the Freshman-Sophomore theory and class piano courses reference jazz studies exercises, be it compositional harmonic convergence, scale studies and application, or jazz piano voicings (from Jazz Theory 1 &2) into the theory classes. In addition, perhaps the jazz faculty can reference "classical" theory, more often.
- Eartraining: Implement assessment of eartraining at Juries.
Freshman Fall, major 7, minor 7, major triad, minor triad
Freshman Spring; all chords from the fall plus dominant 7, diminished 7
Sophomores Fall: all cumulative chords plus m7b5, min9,dominant 9, minor maj 7, minor maj 9
Sophomores Spring: all cumulative chords plus dominant flat 9, #9. 9#11, #9,#11, flat 9#11
Juniors Fall: all cumulative chords plus #5 #9, flat 5 #9, #5 flat 9, #5 #9, 13#11 9, 13#11 flat 9
Juniors Spring: all cumulative chords plus m6, m69, m69 #11
Seniors Fall: all cumulative chords plus chord progressions TBA
Seniors Spring: all cumulative chords, chord progressions plus chord progressions TBA
- Continue with the jam sessions; they force students to administer an ad-hoc self study regarding their preparation. They also reinforce an important element of jazz improvisation and the jazz performance; that it is by nature a social music.
- All studios add a component of etudes, if not already in place. Playing the core compositions can fall under this category, as well as "classical" etudes, etc, and piano voicings for drummers, as well as drum/percussion etudes. Transcription performance may also fall under this category.

- Scale Studies; it is recommended that all studios at all levels address scale patterns in the handbook. We will implement a more cohesive scale study assessment in the juries. A lottery system will be implemented, in which students will draw from scale and pattern options to be performed at tempo, in the juries. Tempos to be discussed, and implemented.

We will share this data with the jazz studies majors at our fall meeting. The hope is to continue growth in applied areas, and foster continued growth with regard to improvisation, scale and repertory issues.

Grading

Performance

Category	0-59 points	60-69 points	70-79 points	80-89 points	90-100 points
NOTE ACCURACY	Unacceptable amount of wrong notes.	Wrong notes detract from the overall performance.	Most notes are correct, with only a few spots of inaccuracy.	A few wrong notes but not enough to greatly affect the overall performance.	Perfection
RHYTHMIC ACCURACY	Constant rushing or dragging. No swing feel	Uneven rhythms and limited swing feel	Moderate swing feel and rhythmic accuracy.	Good understanding of swing feel.	Excellent swing feel and solid time
TONE	Major problems hinder musical expression.	Tonal concept is underway but needs further refinement.	Clear and consistent tone	Defined tonal quality and stylistic correctness.	Excellent
INTONATION	Intonation creates a barrier to playing in an ensemble.	There are consistent instances of intonation problems.	There are occasional instances of intonation problems.	Intonation does not detract from the performance.	There are no intonation problems with this performance.
EXPRESSION & STYLE	The performance does not express musical ideas effectively.	Lack of dynamics and phrasing.	Performance is expressive, but certain areas are still lacking.	Musical expression is evident and the jazz language is evident.	The language of jazz is communicated on an excellent level
ARTICULATION	Virtually none	Inaccurate and inconsistent	Average articulation.	Good articulation, mostly accurate and varied.	Excellent use of articulation.
REPERTOIRE	Poor preparation of the repertoire	Inconsistent preparation of the repertoire.	Average preparation of the repertoire.	Good preparation of the repertoire	Excellent preparation.

Improvisation

	0-59 points	60-69 points	70-79 points	80-89 points	90-100 points
RHYTHMIC IMPROVISATION	Lack of basic Rhythmic ability.	Limited ability.	Average rhythmic ability.	Good sense of time and rhythm.	Excellent time and rhythm
MELODIC IMPROVISATION	Lack of basic melodic preparation.	Limited melodic preparation.	Average melodic improvisation.	Good melodic improvisation.	Excellent preparation of melodic improvisation.
HARMONIC IMPROVISATION	Lack of basic improvisation Technique and understanding .	Limited ability to play over changes.	Able to outline chord.	Good sense of harmony.	Excellent ability to improvise over harmonic material.
ENSEMBLE PERFORMANCE	Lost in form. Stylistically weak	Follow form but no interaction with the band.	Limited interaction with the band	Good interaction with the band	Listening and interacting with the band.

Scale Studies/Technique

Category	0-59 points	60-69 points	70-79 points	80-89 points	90-100 points
SCALE STUDIES	Lack of basic scale mastery.	limited mastery of scales. Wrong notes, time weak.	Limited scale mastery, playing a tempo an issue.	Good mastery of scales	Excellent scale mastery. Good tempos, clean execution.
ASSIGNED ETUDES/OTHER	Complete lack of preparation.	Limited preparation.	Average preparation	Good Preparation.	Excellent preparation.
TECHNICAL ABILITY	Weak technical ability.	Technique greatly hinders performance ability.	Technique hinders performance ability to an average level.	Good technique. Flexibility is apparent.	Excellent technique. Flexibility is apparent, and fluidity to different scale types or keys is evident.
